

Title IX Regulations: Their Status and Interaction with Pennsylvania Anti-Discrimination Laws

January 29, 2025

The Title IX 2024 regulations* were vacated by a federal district judge on Jan. 9, 2025, effectively reinstating the 2020 regulations nationwide. This change does not eliminate the rights and protections of Title IX but impacts how the law will be enforced in schools. In addition, Pennsylvania public schools are still subject to prohibitions on sex discrimination that include gender identity and expression under Pennsylvania state law.

Key Takeaways

- In April 2024, the U.S. Department of Education issued new regulations strengthening protections against sex discrimination for students. The new rule clarified that Title IX prohibits discrimination and harassment based on sexual orientation, gender identity, and sex characteristics. The rule took effect on Aug. 1, 2024.
- Some Pennsylvania schools were under an injunction stemming from a July 2024 decision in Kansas v. U.S. Dept. of Education that enjoined the U.S. Department of Education from enforcing the 2024 Title IX rule in individual public schools in Pennsylvania that have students attending with parents who are members of “Moms for Liberty.”
- On Jan. 9, 2025, a federal court in Kentucky fully vacated the 2024 regulations, issuing a “universal injunction” that prevents the rule from being enforced nationwide. This decision could be appealed but that is unlikely.
- School districts are now required to follow the 2020 Title IX regulations.<sup>1</sup> The 2020 regulations’ preamble affirms that the U.S. Education Department “will not tolerate sexual harassment ... against any student, including LGBTQ students.”<sup>2</sup>
- These federal court decisions do not have any effect whatsoever on state laws. The Pennsylvania Human Relations Act (PHRA) and its regulations independently lawfully prohibit discrimination in schools based on gender identity and expression and sexual orientation, and all Pennsylvania public schools, including charter schools, remain liable under these provisions to prevent discrimination against LGBTQ+ students.

* The terms “regulations” and “rules” are used interchangeably to mean the administrative law issued by the U.S. Department of Education in a formal publication process.

- The federal court decisions do not require any school to stop or change policies or practices that affirm the rights of LGBTQ+ students and cannot bar compliance with applicable state or local laws. The rulings simply prohibit the U.S. Department of Education from demanding compliance with the 2024 regulations.

The 2024 rules were subject to multiple lawsuits, and some Pennsylvania schools were already subject to an injunction sought by members of Moms For Liberty

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 prohibits sex discrimination in federally funded education programs. On April 19, 2024, the U.S. Department of Education issued new regulations to strengthen these vital protections for students.<sup>3</sup> Among other things, the 2024 final regulations clarified that Title IX prohibits discrimination and harassment based on sexual orientation, gender identity, and sex characteristics; reaffirmed the rights of pregnant and parenting students; and broadened the protections for submitting complaints.<sup>4</sup> The 2024 final regulations were effective on Aug. 1, 2024.

A number of lawsuits were initiated by states seeking to prevent the 2024 final regulations from taking effect.<sup>5</sup> While Pennsylvania is not a party to any of these lawsuits, some Pennsylvania schools were previously subject to an injunction arising out of the lawsuit Kansas v. U.S. Department of Education. In that case, the judge issued an opinion on July 2, 2024, barring the U.S. Department of Education from enforcing the 2024 rule in any schools where the children of members of the organizational plaintiffs attend school.<sup>6</sup> Moms For Liberty and the other organizational plaintiffs submitted lists of schools to the court identifying where they had members, and the injunction would be applied. Attached to this fact sheet are the full lists of Pennsylvania schools identified in the court docket as of Jan. 19, 2025. The U.S. Department of Education has filed a notice of appeal to the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals.<sup>7</sup> As of Dec. 6, 2024, the U.S. Department of Education was continuing to pursue the appeal. However, that is subject to change at the discretion of the Trump administration.

The 2024 Title IX Rules Are Now Barred By A Nationwide Injunction

The 2024 rule was preliminarily enjoined in a number of the lawsuit challenges across the country. On Jan. 9, 2025, a federal district court in Kentucky in the matter State of Tennessee v. Cardona entered a final order on the merits that vacated the 2024 regulations as a whole, effectively reinstating the 2020 regulations nationwide.<sup>8</sup> The ruling could be appealed, but the Education Department is unlikely to appeal given that the incoming Trump administration has stated its disagreement with the 2024 rule. There is no information at this time about other potential intervening parties that may try to appeal the decision. The court's decision to invalidate the 2024 rule was based largely on an argument that the definition of sex discrimination could not be expanded to include gender identity and sexual orientation.

What These Decisions Mean for Schools

Importantly, the federal court decisions do not require any change to a school's current or future policy or practice of affirming LGBTQ+ students' rights. The Kansas decision explicitly states that “nothing in this order limits the ability of any school to adopt or follow its own policies, or otherwise comply with applicable state or local laws or rules regarding the subjects addressed herein. Rather, it simply prohibits [the U.S. Department of Education] from demanding compliance with the Final Rule by the schools affected by this order or imposing any consequences for such schools' failure to comply with the Final Rule.”<sup>9</sup> This means that the decision only relates to the U.S. Department of Education, which cannot require schools to implement the 2024 final regulations. The court in Tennessee v. Cardona also reiterated that these rulings do not require changes to school policies that affirm LGBTQ+ students' rights; they merely “cause a return to the status quo” where schools must abide by anti-discrimination policies in the 2020 Final Rule and state and local laws.<sup>10</sup>

Pennsylvania Public Schools Must Implement the 2020 Title IX Rule, Which Also Prohibits Discrimination Against LGBTQ Students

While the legal challenges to the 2024 regulations will continue to progress through the courts, and the Trump administration will decide how to proceed, it is important for Pennsylvania school administrators to ensure that the 2020 regulations are implemented. School policies, codes of conduct, and practices should be reviewed for compliance. Significantly, the 2020 regulations also prohibit sex discrimination against LGBTQ students. The preamble to the 2020 regulations affirms that “These final regulations focus on prohibited conduct, irrespective of a person's sexual orientation or gender identity.... The Department will not tolerate sexual harassment ... against any student, including LGBTQ students.”<sup>11</sup> If a school has active investigations operating under the 2024 regulations, they should consult with their lawyer and evaluate next steps on a case-by-case basis.

Title IX and Case Law Are Not Affected By the Injunctions or Executive Order

Schools must still comply with their obligations under pre-existing federal caselaw precedent. The Third Circuit—the controlling federal court in Pennsylvania—and three other circuit courts have clearly affirmed students' right to use school bathroom and locker room facilities aligned with their gender identity.<sup>12</sup> In their 2018 decision in the Boyertown case, the Third Circuit held that there was no privacy violation in having transgender and cisgender students share facility space.<sup>13</sup> Two other federal cases that arose in the Middle and Western district courts in Pennsylvania resulted in the same outcome, affirming the right of transgender students to access the school facility aligned with their gender identity.<sup>14</sup> Likewise in 2020, the Ninth Circuit held that a school district's gender-inclusive bathroom and locker room policy that supports the rights of transgender students does not violate the rights of other students; the U.S. Supreme Court declined to review that case.<sup>15</sup>

The 2024 rule did not address sports participation for transgender students, and the 2023 proposed rulemaking for sports was withdrawn by the Department of Education on Dec. 26, 2024.<sup>16</sup> While there have been a number of discriminatory sports bans in states across the country, most courts have overturned bans where they have been challenged.<sup>17</sup>

Executive orders cannot rewrite Title IX or its case law. In an executive order issued by President Trump on Jan. 20, 2025, called “Defending Women From Gender Ideology Extremism,” President Trump proclaims it is the policy of his administration to recognize only male and female sexes. He directs the attorney general to issue guidance limiting the application of the U.S. Supreme Court’s Bostock decision that recognized gender identity discrimination as sex discrimination. We will provide further analysis when more information is available, but an executive order or agency guidance cannot override the Title IX law and courts’ interpretation of the law.

PA Public Schools Must Follow State and Local Laws Prohibiting Discrimination Based on Gender Identity & Expression

Moreover, in Pennsylvania, equitable policies for LGBTQ+ students are also required by the state antidiscrimination law, the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act (PHRA), and its regulations that define sex discrimination to include that based on gender identity, gender expression, and sexual orientation.<sup>18</sup> For example, a policy prohibiting a student’s facilities access based on their gender identity would violate the PHRA. The Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission (PHRC), charged with enforcement of the act, has recognized (and reiterated in July 2024) that discrimination based on gender identity/expression constitutes sex discrimination, in guidance<sup>19</sup> and with regulations that explicitly clarify sex discrimination includes gender identity or expression.<sup>20</sup> State courts have held school districts responsible for discrimination against students based on gender identity under the PHRA. For example, in 2018, a Pennsylvania state court entered a $500,000 damages award against a school district for violating the Human Relations Act by failing to intervene and address the bullying and harassment a student experienced from other students due to her gender presentation and not conforming to gender stereotypes.<sup>21</sup> In addition, schools must also comply with local ordinances prohibiting sex-based discrimination.<sup>22</sup>

Public schools have an obligation to ensure that all children, including LGBTQ+ students, have a safe and welcoming environment to learn and thrive free from discrimination.

Students and parents who are concerned that their school has not implemented the 2020 Title IX regulations or the requirements of the PHRA can contact ELC’s Helpline at 215-238-6970. More information is available about filing complaints to the federal Department of Education’s Office of Civil Rights or the PHRC.
